PINEHURST, N. C. March 27.—
Francis Ouimet, the national champion, with Donald Ross as his partner, won the annual amateur-professional four-ball match yesterday with a score of 137 for the thirty-six holes of best ball play. The competition, which precedes the limited North and South championship each year, attracted a splendid field, which included among its members both National Champions Ouimet and Walter Hagin, the holder of the open title. Hagin was not so fortunate, and, with C. W. Deibel as his running mate, finished in the unlucky

"It sounds well to limit the catch and require the fish to be of a certain length," remarked one of the older anglers, "but when persons residing along the rivers haul seine out of season and deplete the stream, it seems that protective measures are useless. "I believe in the enactment of stringent laws for the protection of fish," he added, "and I also believe such laws should be rigidly enforced."

Vigorous complaints are being made against the treatment of the fish in the Chesapeake and Ohio canal this season. Herefore, it is stated, the fish commission looked after them and protected them from dippers, but the Austin Savage believes he will "make a killing" when he goes fishing sport, landing eight small-mouth bass.

Hurley said he got fully twenty strikes. His boatman landed seven fish.

Many enthusiastic anglers think it would be well to have laws enacted in Maryland and Virginia that will protect small-mouth black bass, strawberry bass and crappie. A law similar to one that is proposed in Ohio would meet the approval of some of the anglers, while others think there should be a larger limit to catches.

The law that is proposed for Ohio provides:

"Make a killing" when he goes fishing tomorrow.

"In other sections of the country people bait ducks and fish," he remarked, "and why can it not be done here? I think it can."

Ten days ago the angler filled a sack with beef bones and grain and weighted it in a hole near the feeder, satisfied that it would attract fish.

"It may be that the bait has been there ioo long," he remarked, "but if I don't succeed tomorrow I'll bait the hole again and give the scheme a fair trial."

High winds all the week kept many anglers off the river, said. Will Rey-nolds. Dozens of fishermen who had planned to try to catch perch this week were prevented by the rough water.
Very few persons have been on the river near Analoston Island the past week seeking catfish. Some fished from the shore and old scows along the wharves, and were satisfied with catching enough fish for a "mess."

Unless Georgetown wins from the Georgia Tech team today it will have gone through a rather disastrous trip. The Blue and Gray nine has dropped three straight contests, two to the University of Georgia and one to the Georgia Tech of Georgia and one to the Georgia Technine. The Blue and Gray, though, is banking its hopes of getting off with one victory out of the four games of the trip on the final contest.

Catholic University should win from the Gallaudet nine. The Kendall Greeners do not have as capable an aggregation of ball players as represents the Brookland institution, and the men individually are not as experienced.

The two scholastic games ought to be interesting, while the indoor meet of the Terminal 'Y' is likely to produce a lot of enthusiasm among those affiliated with that organization.

the Terminal 'Y' is likely to produce a lot of enthusiasm among those affiliated with that organization.

Tommy Thompson, while he has failed to start in either of the games in Georgia for Georgetown, has done better work than either of the other pitchers used. He finished the contest Thursday against the University of Georgia, and did well, while yesterday he took Kelley's place after the fourth inning and held the Georgia Tech nine without a hit during the remainder of the contest.

It probably will be Thompson's luck to be started today just after having worked twice in succession, in which case it will be surprising if he gets away well. Hagerty, who pitched the first game against Georgia, seems to be the likely choice for the final conflict, as he performed very creditably.

Must Adopt Schedule and Find Manager for Kansas City.

CANCEL BROOKLYN TRADE

Benny Kauff Goes to Tip Tops and Falkenburg Remains With Newark Club.

NEW YORK, March 27.—The adoption of a playing schedule for the season, to open April 10, and selection of managers for the Kansas City and terday. Score: the hammerhead shark.

The hammerhead shark one measured 11 feet 8 ters before the adjourned meeting of Cleveland. The accompanying picture shows a catch made at a later date, and shows seven grouper, four barracuda, one kingfish and a seven-foot hammerhead that, although two different lists of the carried one by the Federal League her kingfish and a seven-foot hammerhead shark.

Charlie Porter, reputed to be one of the most successful fishermen in this section, was on the river at Fletcher's Thursday afternoon with Ringgold Hart and Lewis M. Thayer. The trio did not make a start until after office hours and consequently did not have much time on the river.

When the fourteenth fish had been landed Hart had just one half of them to his credit. His companions did not appreciate being so far in the background and Jokingly refused to allow the lantern to go to his end of the boat.

This the real light are a lightly said that, although two different lists of games have been prepared, one by Robert B. Ward and the other by Lloyd Rickert, neither was considered acceptable. One of the difficulties in connection with the schedule arose from the fact that the Newark club will play ball Sundays, while the Brooklyn club will not be permitted to do so. President Gilmore hoped that a new schedule which would be satisfactory to all concerned could be devised.

There was some difficulty in selecting a manager for the Kansas City club. George Stovall, who has been the lantern to go to his end of the boat.

"Light or no light," said Hart, "here goes for a fish, and the bait's not much."

Up came a big fish on the poor bait and in the dark, making the fifteenth and last fish of the catch.

"Take the lantern," chorused the other fishermen, but it way time to go home and the champion had no use for it.

There was some difficulty in selecting a manager for the Kansas City club. George Stovall, who has been manager of that club, did not want to go back there, it was said, and William Phillips, manager of the Indianapolis club, now transferred to Newark, objected to a suggestion that he take charge of the Kansas City team. Kansas City, it was understood, wanted a playing manager other than Stovall.

It was announced that the leagu has annulled the trade between Brooklyn and Kansas City whereby the vere anxious to get the big fish of the Brooklyn club obtained Pitcher Cullop in return for Bradley, Shaw and Max-The two anglers were on the river a day that the wind was not so bad, and well, and that the players would be reday that the wind was not so bad, and when night came they found it warm enough to remain until long after sun-played last season. Nineteen fish were caught by them. They caught nothing large enough to break the record of William Wyncoop, however, who landed an eighteen pound fish earlier in the season.

Q. D. Heltrel also was on the river hoping he would be able to establish a record. Luck was against him, however, and he caught fewer fish than his friends.

"One of them was a nine-pounder," said Joe Fletcher, "and that was the largest fish of the day."

William Wyncoop probably spent more time on the river last week than did most of his friends, and he probably caught more fish.

Hugh A. Kane did not stop fishing because a big Mississippi catfish took his rod a week ago.

"There are plenty more rods," he said to his companions "and I know there are plenty of fish in the river."

Procuring a new rod, the enthusiastic angler returned to Fletcher's and made an effort to get a big fish. He said he was anxious to get the one that had taken his hook and part of his line.

Kane managed to get a fish that weighed eight and three-quarter pounds. The angler was well satisfied with the result of his effort.
